

Clash Situations - Summer 2024

It is not unusual to find two or more examinations scheduled for the same day and time. Depending on the length of the papers involved, most clash papers are sat back-to-back:

- GCSE Languages exams - Listening & Reading
- GCSE History exams - Superpower Relations & Early Elizabethan
- Clashes between qualifications (L2 Further Mathematics/GCSE History)

Occasionally the combined duration of the clash papers is too long to sit back-to-back. In this situation, they are sat in the earlier or later session of the day. If this occurs, students will find themselves under supervision from the morning until their afternoon examination has finished.

Supervision

Students under supervision will need to bring their revision materials in hard copy and a packed lunch/drinks. There will be no access to mobile phones, the internet, computers, any electronic devices or other students/teachers. You cannot access the Windmill Café so it is very important that you bring lunch and drinks with you to school.
